

Press Release

NutriTutor™ Approved As a Contributor/partner With The California Diabetes Program

PRLog (Press Release) – Aug 17, 2010 – San Antonio, FL - Recently NutriTutor™ was approved as a contributor and partner for the California Diabetes Program.

The California Diabetes Program, in partnership with the University of California, San Francisco, strives to prevent diabetes and its complications in California's diverse communities plus serve as an example to other states for meeting the needs of a growing diabetes population. The program is a coordinating leader for hundreds of multi-sector partners at the individual, community, health care, policy, and environmental levels serving those in need of quality diabetes treatment. Self-management training is considered to be a critical component of diabetes treatment and NutriTutor™ offers the world's first online diabetes self-management training program. "We are pleased to receive this endorsement", states Van Wyckhouse. "This partnership gives more people with diabetes the opportunity to receive life changing education."

NutriTutor™, based near Tampa, Florida is committed to improving the quality of diabetes education while also lowering the cost to the uninsured, self-insured, and those who cannot take off work for days at a time to receive training.

NutriTutor.com offers a proven system designed to empower members to not only manage their diabetes, but also prevent progression of their diabetes and related blood vessel diseases. Members receive customized meal plans and personalized interactive training at their own convenience from Registered Dietitians and Certified Diabetes Educators, while paying only half the price normally charged by competing hospital-based programs. Affordable and convenient medical nutrition training is fast making NutriTutor™ the first line of defense against diabetes for the diabetic community and physicians alike.

To learn more about the services that NutriTutor™ offers, visit http://www.caldiabetes.org/profiles_display.cfm?ProfilesID=405&CategoriesID=36 or <http://www.nutritutor.com>.